

Water Plus are experienced in all technical aspects associated with attaining new water, wastewater and temporary connections. If you require help with any part of the process, please contact us. The Water Plus team provides a design service to create these documents according to your requirements (and can provide a quote to complete the documents).

Specialist support includes WIRS accredited design, water and drainage modelling, flow and pressure testing. Also covered is completing application forms and liaising with Scottish Water, through to soil investigations (SI), mains installation, pressure testing and chlorination and ultimately, final connections.
